CLASS HISTORY

Here we go into the wild blue yonder climbing high into the field of knowledge. We landed at Jackson High School to begin our high school career as green "Freshies" in September, 1939 with thirty-four aboard our plane. This year we elected Zola Huffman as our President, Don Smith as Vice-President, Evelyn Baker as Secretary, and Donald Flack as Treasurer. Miss Lee was our advisor and helped us get off to a flying start. Our class colors are blue and silver and our flower is the American Beauty Rose. Zola Huffman went out for the vocal solo contest, won first at the county and continued her flight on to Oberlin to try again. Six of our boys and two girls tried out for the basketball team. Racheal Flory and Russell Sours left us to continue their flight elsewhere.

September, 1940 rolled around and we again landed at Jackson High School with only twenty-nine aboard. Martha Henderson, Harold French, Doris Shultz, Lawrence Hammer, and Catherine Applehans had left us. We, also, found some new faces which were Eugene Dooley and John Meszaros. We elected Shannon Snyder as President, Don Smith as Vice-President, Evelyn Wolf, as Secretary, and Evelyn Baker, as Treasurer. Mr. Thomas was our advisor and he made a very nice and cheerful pilot. Zola Huffman and Howard Weaver went out for the vocal solo contest. Eight boys tried out for basketball; three of them, Don Smith, Eugene Dooley, and Shannon Snyder, succeeded in flying right on to the varsity team. Richard Wilson succeeded in getting a part in the One-Act play, which was successful enough to continue its flight to Columbus. Shannon Snyder and Robert Kassing were in the school orchestra. We, also, had a joint skating party with the Freshmen at which everyone had much fun. Richard Hoover and Donald Coleman left us before school was out, so we continued our flight with two less aboard. We also picked up an extra passenger in our flight. He was Max Hamm.

Here it is September again, 1941, and we again land at Jackson High School with twenty-eight aboard. We elected Don Smith, as President, Evelyn Baker, as Vice-President, Zola Huffman as Secretary, and Evelyn Wolf as Treasurer. We had Mrs. Murphy, the first half of the year and Miss Krill, the second half, as advisors and they both helped us much in gaining altitude in our field for knowledge. Zola Huffman and Shannon Snyder went out for the vocal solo contest. They both came out first in the county and continued their flight to Oberlin. Donald Flack was in the One-Act play. Our class was well represented in the Student Council play by Margaret Lanning, Donald Flack, Isabell Stull, Eugene Dooley, and Zola Huffman. The Junior class play entitled "Professor, How Could You?" turned out to be quite a success. The characters were Shannon Snyder, Evelyn Baker, Howard Weaver, Don Smith, Robert Kassing, Barbara Carter, Zola Huffman, Evelyn Wolf, Margaret Lanning, and Donald Flack. This helped us to get out of the "red" and to give the Seniors quite a nice banquet. Several of the Juniors were successful enough in their flight of knowledge to become members of the Honor Society. They were Geraldine Copsey, Donald Flack, Shannon Snyder, Don Smith, Frank Harrison, Evelyn Baker, Evelyn Wolf, Robert Kassing, Zola Huffman, and Max Hamm. We were well represented on the basketball, track, and baseball teams. Those successful in their flight to become members of the varsity basketball team were: Don Smith, Bernard Fox, Eugene Dooley, and Doyle McHaffie. During the year Richard Wilson, June Wilson, Max Hamm, and Junior Hartley had contacted planes elsewhere and left us. Shannon Snyder and Robert Kassing were in the trumpet trio, which succeeded in going to the state contest.

In September, 1942, we landed our plane at Jackson-Liberty High School with twenty-five aboard. We again called a class meeting and elected Don Smith, as President, Evelyn Baker as Vice-President, Isabell Stull as Secretary and Zola Huffman as Treasurer. Mr. Kettler was our advisor and our trip with him as pilot, seems to become much quieter. We elected Donald Flack as our editor and Don Smith as business manager of our Blue and Gold staff. In the Student Council play we were represented by Margaret Lanning, Donald Flack, Evelyn Baker and Eugene Dooley. In the one-act play, Evelyn Baker, Barbara Carter, Isabell Stull, and Donald Flack, had parts. Those successful this year in their flight to become members of the Honor Society were, Evelyn Baker, Geraldine Copsey, Barbara Carter, Donald Flack, Frank Harrison, Troas Hemminger, Zola Huffman, Margaret Lanning, Shannon Snyder and Evelyn Wolf. We were also represented in debate by Barbara Carter and Howard Weaver. About mid-year one of our passengers, Donald Steward, decided to change planes and head elsewhere. Those boys successful in their flight to become members of the varsity basketball team were: Don Smith, Eugene Dooley, Bernard Fox, and Doyle McHaffie.

So now with twenty-four passengers aboard, we go into the wild blue yonder not knowing what is ahead but always building the ladder by which we climb.

—EVELYN WOLF.

CLASS PROPHECY

One evening not so long ago, I got to thinking what would become of our class in the next ten years. In the midst of my thinking I fell asleep and started dreaming. I was in my car driving through Jackson and Liberty townships. The first place I remember coming to was the "Harrison Homestead." I decided to stop and see who lived there. It was evening and I was greeted at the door by no other than Frank E. Harrison, himself. He invited me in, and introduced me to Mrs. Harrison, Frank, Jr., and little Julia Jeanne. Frank told me he was farming about 600 acres and had four John Deere tractors with all the machinery he desired. He also said he was hiring three men. He took me out to the bunk house where these men stayed because he said that I would be surprised to see some of them. We walked in and the first people I saw were Ralph Hemminger and Robert Yoder.

Ralph had bought the first Jeep after the World War II and had saved his money to buy the new "53" automobile that was put out by a new company that had sprung up since the war. Bob Yoder was going to trade his old P-38 in on a new "Thunderbolt." I could hardly tell just who the other man was, though I thought it looked like Emerson Miller. I had never thought Robert Yoder would be a bachelor, but I had always thought Emerson would be. Was I surprised when Emerson told me he was engaged. Of course I was anxious to know just who she was. He was very bashful. He said she was a teacher of the accordion and also a secretary in New York. I couldn't figure out who it was, until finally I got him to say it was none other than our own Troas Hemminger. I had a long visit with them and finally had to leave to see just who else I could find. I didn't see anything until I came to the now much larger town of Kansas where upon inquiring about the mayor I found that his wife was the former Juanita Hunt. I inquired where she lived and went directly to see her. When I arrived and knocked on the door, I was welcomed by Juanita herself. She invited me in and introduced me to all six of her children. She told me she had been living in Kansas since commencement day back in '43. I could not stay long as I was due in Illinois the following day. I decided to take the Greyhound. I boarded the bus in Fostoria and started on my journey. The bus started very suddenly with little rubber saved. We went around the first corner so fast that I was thrown into the lap of the lady next to me. I begged the lady's pardon and was about to make my way to the driver, when I noticed that the lady looked familiar. Looking closely, I found her to be none other than our own Zola Huffman, who had been visiting her parents. She told me that she had been singing with Shannon Snyder's band. She said his band was considered as good as Harry James had been in the days of '43. She had no sooner told me this than we went around another corner and I was thrown back into my own seat again. By this time I was getting a little angry, so I went up to give the driver a little advice. I got to the front and was ready to say something when I noticed some red hair. I looked closely and saw that it was Eugene Dooley. He had only been driving the bus a few days. Previously he had been driving Jeeps which were still being made for farm use. We talked a little while and then I went back to my seat. The next stop was Chicago. I wanted to go to a little town not far from Chicago to see some friends so I stepped up to the ticket office to purchase my ticket and who was the clerk, but Robert Kassing. He was just using this as a fill in job. You see he was the manager of a large night club. He had been doing this for several years. He invited me to the club that evening to hear Shannon and his band. When we arrived we were ushered to tables where we were soon recognized by Shannon. He told us all about his life during the past years and invited me to lunch with him the next noon. I agreed to come, and so the evening went on till I thought I had better go to my room. The next day when I met Shannon for lunch he had a woman with him whom I discovered to be Margaret Lanning. We went on to lunch in a cafeteria called "The Baker." I remarked that the name reminded me of Evelyn Baker, and was very surprised to discover that she was the Evelyn Baker we all knew. However her name was no longer Baker. She said she had been married since the war ended and that "Pete" and she were living comfortably over on the "East Side." After lunch we left Evelyn and went to a Women's Club meeting which Margaret said was going to be interesting even to us men because it was to be a lecture by Senator Carter of Illinois. The building was crowded. We were able to find a seat close to the front. When the Senator was introduced it turned out to be none other than, Barbara Carter still telling everyone that a Federal World Government should be established. We listened and after she had finished, we went up and congratulated her. Then I told her that I still didn't believe some of the points she brought out and we had a short debate right there.

I went back to my hotel and stayed till it was time for me to attend the convention I had come all the way to Illinois to attend. I got ready and left in plenty of time. I started across the street so as to be on the right side to board the street car, when all of a sudden I was hit very hard by something. I didn't know anything till I woke up in a hospital with Dr. Flack. (Yes, the Donald Ray Flack of Jackson) bending over me asking me how I was feeling. He then called the nurse to give her full instructions as to what I would need. When she opened the door, I knew at a glance that it was Geraldine Copsey. She recognized me, too. She told me that she had heard that I was hit by a bus driven by Eugene Dooley. When he dropped in a few days later and apologized, I decided I would not compel or even ask him to pay the cost, but he insisted, so was I to argue about this. Dr. Flack dropped in to see me everyday or so and with Geraldine's help I was soon ready to leave the hospital. I then decided that I would leave this town and come back to Ohio, as I believed it much safer here. I got on a train this time because they usually followed the track and I didn't want to get thrown into anymore women's laps even though I was glad to see Zola.

When I arrived back in Fostoria I heard a voice that sounded like one I had heard before. The man was yelling Taxi! Taxi! I soon recognized it was Doyle McHaffie. He was now driving the taxi for the Hays Hotel. They had asked him because he had told them he had driven the same Ford for ten years. And surely enough when we got to the hotel there was the old Ford, the same one he had in "43." Doyle told me that Leonard Watson was still out on the farm. I decided right then I would go over and see him again. When I arrived in the neighborhood where he had lived, all I could see was a big airport. I stopped at the first farm and asked just where Leonard lived. The man told me the airport was his. Well, I could hardly wait to get back there. I went up and found no other than Evelyn Wolf as his secretary. The information she had gotten in aeronautics class had helped her very much. She told me to go back through the hangar, so I did. I saw a man bending over a motor that had been taken from a plane. I went up and tapped him on the shoulder to inquire where I could find Leonard. When he turned around, to my surprise, it was Leonard Watson. There was a little restaurant out nearer the field. As I was hungry, I decided to go out and get something to eat. I stepped inside and who should I see behind the counter but Isabell Stull. Of course the last name was Greenlee now. She said that her husband was a mechanic in the "Watson Airport." She had been in the Restaurant business only one year as she had been busy raising a family of twin girls that were a year and a half old. I congratulated her and ran out on the field to see a big transport come in. The first person to get off was a big boy, whom I didn't know at first. But as he came toward me I saw Don Smith, who was visiting his folks. For the past six years Don has been pitching for the Detroit Tigers, and they have won every game. Don likes his work very much. He got the job just to earn enough money to go to college to prepare to become a basketball coach. However they had persuaded him to keep pitching for the team. Also on the same plane was Captain John Meszaros of the Coast Guard. He had remained in the Coast Guard until just today. Now he was back in Fostoria to stay.

Then I got in my car and started home. My car began to get warm when I was about half way home, so I had to stop at a farm house and get some water. The man I found here was Bernard Fox. He was farming with his horses and had just come in to do his milking. We went to the barn, as I had decided to stay at Bernard's request. When we got to the barn, Bernard's wife and boy already had the cows in and were milking. I visited for about an hour when I thought I had better be heading home. Just then I was awakened from this wonderful dream by Betty King who was hitting me on the arm asking me what I was doing on the floor. I told her about my dream and somehow it must have happened while I was hit by the bus. She asked me if I had the class prophecy written yet, and I was just ready to tell her no when I happened to think of my dream and how everybody appeared in it. She asked me what I had dreamed about her. I hadn't dreamed a thing. I told her that we would gaze into the crystal ball for her future. I saw the city of Iler a much, much bigger city. Betty's husband was running a big hotel, that had been the former Keller property. Helen Keller had built it and put Betty and her husband in charge. Betty was the Bookkeeper. I asked her how she came to be in my house. She said she saw me on the floor and thought I was dead, so she ran in to make sure.

CLASS HISTORY

In the year 1940, we, the "Jolly Juniors" entered school with forty pupils. After we were initiated by the upper classmen, we were admitted into High school.

We were very happy when our graduation rings arrived.

By having a booth at the school fair, by selling concessions at basketball games, and by presenting a play, we increased our savings considerably.

Our Class was well represented in the different organizations of the school, such as, G.R., F.F.A., F.H.A., and Hi-Y.

Charles Gwiner, Robert Heiserman, and Wilbur Master played on the varsity basketball team.

Madolyn Nichols and June Crockett were on the debate team.

Donald Massie and Robert Heiserman were in the one-act play.

Miss Boldry was our advisor. We sincerely hope to become "Dignified Seniors" next year.

CLASS HISTORY

Pupils from Jackson and Kansas, together with some from other schools make up the Freshman Class. Basketball was the most favored sport this year. Baseball and track were the other competitive sports. George Stull, Francis Burns, and Clyde Shaull went out for basketball. Ernest Dicken was a very capable assistant manager throughout the basketball season.

The boys in vocational agriculture went on a trip to the sugar beet factory at Fremont. The trip proved very interesting. Another project of interest was starting baby chicks for Mrs. Earl Ash.

SENIOR PLAY... "Murdered Alive"

Wealthy Marvin Ryder had been killed in a motor accident. His lawyer wired all the heirs to come to "Hillcrest," the country estate of the deceased. The will mentions most of the relatives who come off handsomely, and just as they are congratulating each other on their good fortune the lawyer reads two codicils attached to the will. Marvin Ryder states that he knows positively that he is going to be murdered. So he sets aside $10,000 for the expense of apprehending his murderer and the same sum for the person or persons who capture the criminal! Things begin to happen. Strange weird occurrences that cannot be explained. In the midst of this tension Acton Chance, a detective who has taken a correspondence course, arrives and tries to find the murderer. His attempts at solving the crime lead from one ludicrous situation to another until the climax is reached when he is found bound and gagged in the barn. Another strange coincidence is that there are at least a dozen clocks in the house that continue to keep time and strike the hour regularly, though nobody has wound them in days. As usual though everything turns out all right in the end.

Young Marshall Kelly and his irrepressible wife, Trudy, might be any of your neighbors. Trudy believes in dreams and in her ability to interpret each and every dream she has. That is why when she has a dream that fortells of great misfortune to their home, she insists on moving into a new residence. Much against his will, Marshall is forced to humor her and they move into a new dwelling. That night Trudy has a dream that is so real that she spread the news that great happiness in the form of a large sum of money is coming to them in their new home. The following afternoon the doorbell rings and when she answers the summons a messenger boy thrusts a suitcase into Trudy's hands and makes a hasty departure. Upon opening the suitcase Marshall and Trudy discover that it contains twenty-five thousand dollars in cash! A few minutes later, Carmen Miller, a young newspaper woman, rushes in and tells the Kellys that the home they just moved out of has caught fire and burned to the ground. Trudy is beside herself with joy. More than ever she believes in her dreams. When Marshall is on the verge of entering into a new business partnership which he believes is the opportunity of a lifetime, Trudy steps in and throws the monkey wrench into the proposed partnership and her husband is filled with dismay. But it all turns out right at the end.

Mrs. Fletcher is coming all the way from New England to visit with Jude and Betty Ann and then she hopes to go to New Mexico where her nephew, Dwight Fletcher, a young artist, is residing. In addition to Mrs. Fletcher they are also expecting a new hired hand at the Melton ranch. While Jude goes to meet Mrs. Fletcher and "fetch" her back to the ranch, Dwight Fletcher arrives, having decided to pay his aunt a surprise visit. Betty Ann mistakes Dwight for the new hired hand and insists that he go out to milk the cows! Dwight falls in love with Betty Ann, but her father has already promised that his daughter will marry Lige Beatson, son of Widder Beatson. This situation is taken care of very nicely by Cactus Kate who proves that anything can happen "Down In The Heart Of Texas."

OPERETTA... "The Gypsy Rover"

"The Gypsy Rover" was a comedy in three acts and was built around Rob, later known as Sir Gilbert Howe, of English nobility. Rob is stolen, when an infant, by his nurse, Meg, who later becomes the wife of Marto, a gypsy. Rob grows to manhood amongst the gypsies believing Meg and Marto to be his parents.

It happens one day, while riding with her fiancée, Lord Craven, Lady Constance Martendale becomes lost in the woods. They wander to the gypsy camp where Constance and Rob meet and fall in love at first sight. Craven objects to Rob's attitude, but in a very funny comedy scene with Marto and Sinfo, he is made to tell Sir Geo., who later comes in search of Constance, that Rob is a charming fellow. In act two Rob goes to the home of Constance and serenades her. They plan to elope but are overheard by Craven who informs Sir Geo., and plans are made to capture Rob. This is successfully accomplished and Rob is thrown into prison, but later escapes.

Two years later Rob's identity has been proven by Meg and he becomes a successful composer, a friend of the Prince, and a social lion. Constance has remained true to her love for Rob and on his return to England, he woos and wins her for his wife. As Rob says, "The good fairies have led me to the beautiful country after all, and our story, Constance, can end in the proper way." "They lived happily ever after."

The Players

Doyle McHaffie, Forward.

This is Doyle's last year in school and he leaves a place that will be difficult to fill next year. He was a good ball-handler and an excellent team player.

Wilbur Masters, Forward.

Wilbur, at forward, played very good basketball this year. He was very good on rebound shots. He is only a Junior this year and we are counting very much on him for next year.

Don Smith, Center.

Don played good basketball all season with a total record of 195 points, which was highest of the team. He is a Senior this year and leaves another place that will be difficult to fill next year. He played the bank-board very well, both on offense and defense. He seemed at his best when the going was toughest.

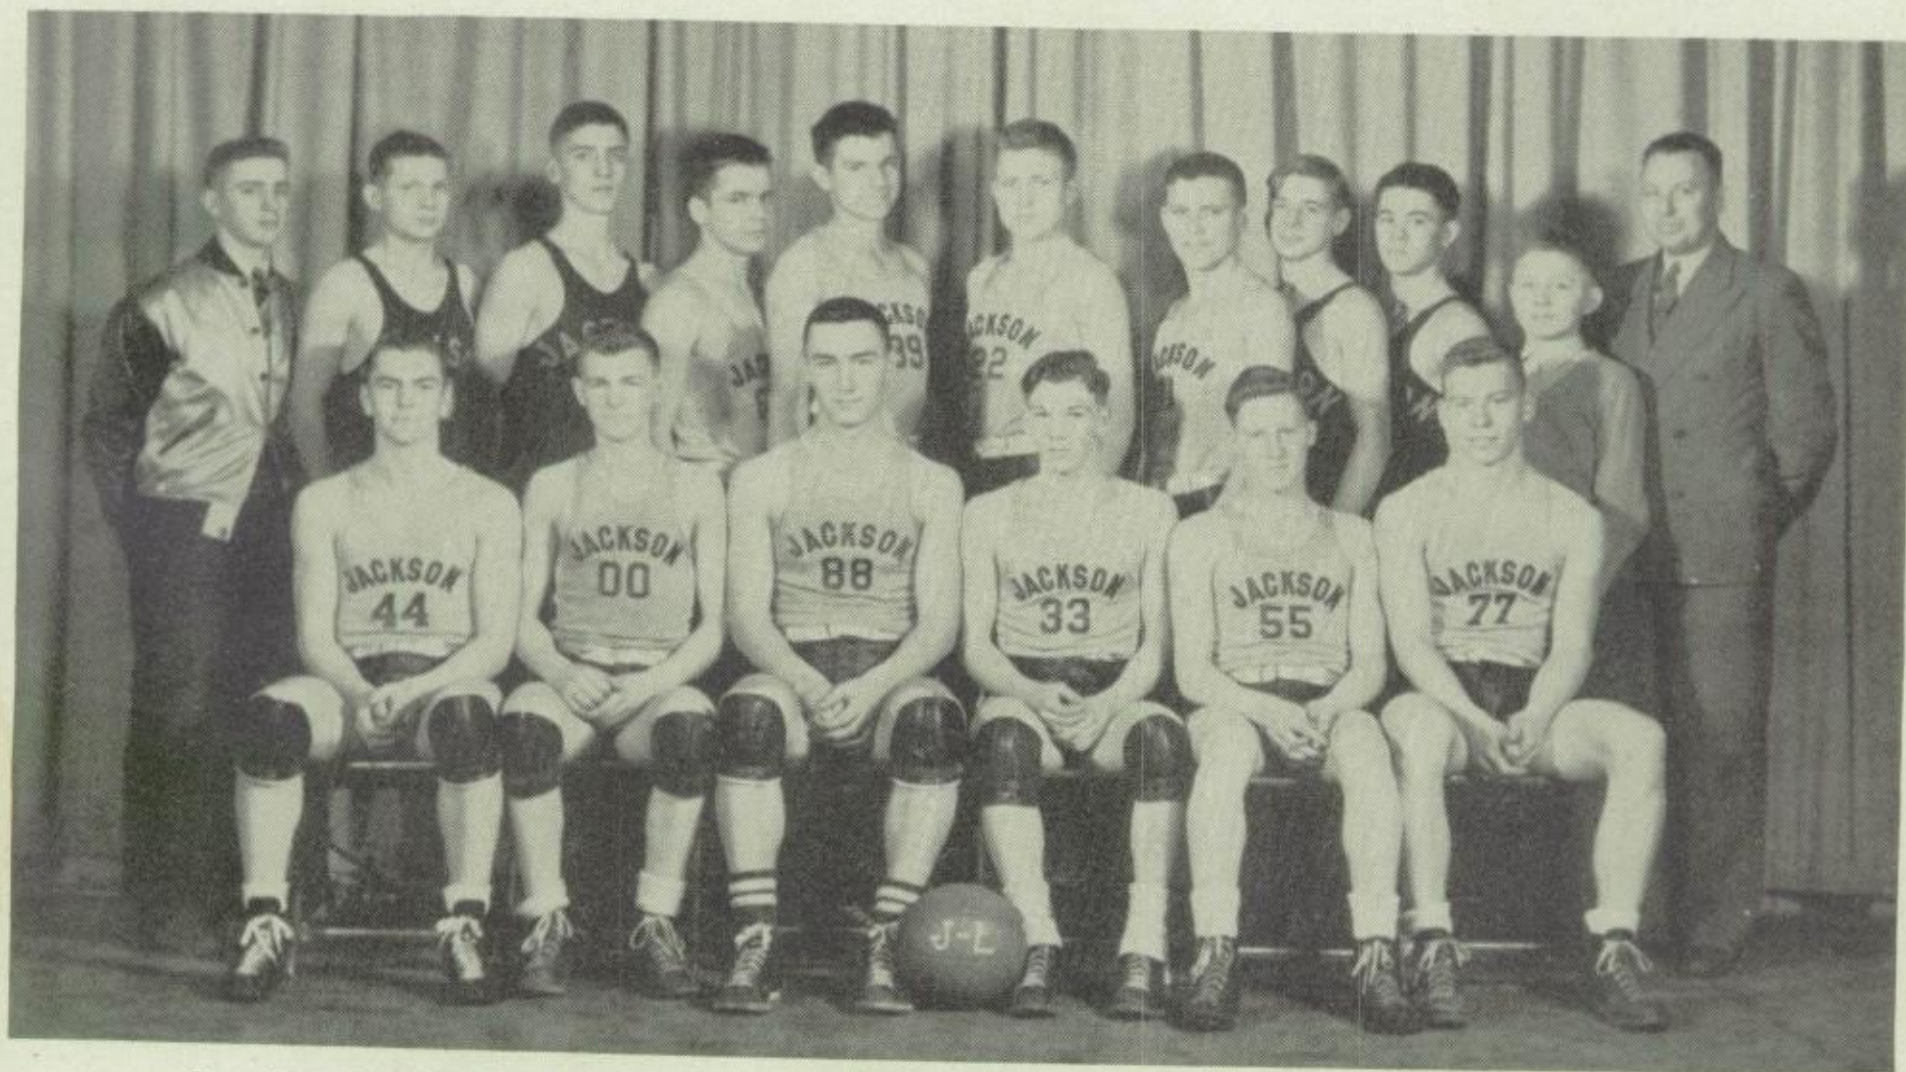

Bernard Fox, Guard.

Bernard, another Senior, leaves a place to be filled next year. Bernard played very well on defense and kept his opponent very well checked at all times.

Eugene Dooley, Guard.

Eugene was the fastest man on the team and his graduation this year leaves another place to be filled next year. Eugene played his best on defense and his opponents found it difficult to get loose for very many shots.

Coach Bricker came to Jackson-Liberty this year from Kansas, Ohio. He knows his basketball, and did very well at it, although this was his first year of coaching a high school team. He always had a stick of gum for his players at the time of their games. He was well thought of by all of the players. He will be back next year to coach another team and we wish him the best of luck.
